Heretofore a naval officer's record has been founded on reports of his fitness for command submitted by his supefor command submitted by his superiors. Any striking individual achievement or distinguished service in time of peace or war also went to his credit, hile accidents to his ship for which he was held responsible or censure of any kind made a black mark against him. The new plan is a part of the machinery by which the department is preparing to carry out provisions of the pending naval bill substituting selective promotion of higher officers for the present seriority system. The department also is preparing a new examination system for junior officers in order to determine as closely as possible their fitness for higher rank.

Decline in New York.

NEW YORK, August 16 .- A sligh the epidemic of infantile paralysis was noted today in the health department's bulletin. During the twenty-four hours preceding 10 a.m. the plague killed thirty-four children, while 113 persons were stricken. This compares with vesterday's figures of thirty-nine deaths and 163 new cases.

Children who have recovered from infantile paralysis and are being discharged from hospitals although still suffering from the effects of the disease, Dr. Haven Emerson, health commissioner, declared in a statement, require expert orthopedic treatment to escape becoming cripples for life.

The commissioner was optimistic of the ultimate recovery of the little patients with proper treatment, but he held out scant hope for a cure in less than two years.

The informal conclusion of the morning paper publishers to meet the paper crisis by reducing their consumption of white paper as much as possible came after an unsuccessful effort to reach an agreement to eliminate Sunday comic sections.

The afternoon publishers informally The afternoon publishers informally discussed the white paper situation, but took no action looking to a curtailment of consumption.

CANE MADE OF PAPER.

Inmate of Prison Uses Old Copies of The Star for Walking Stick.

Raymond Choate, an inmate of the state prison at Charlestown, Mass., in a letter to The Star today, advances a new argument for the conservation of old newspapers, a subject of general interest at this time because of the scarcity of wood pulp for the manufacture of paper. The convict manufactured from old copies of The Star a walking stick, which he forwarded by express, as a proof that old newspapers have a distinct commercial value. He says he got the idea of making the cane from old copies of The Star after reading an article that railroad car wheels have been successfully manufactured from paper.

Choate, who is to be released in three months, has made seven or eight canes from old newspapers, and is selling them to get enough money to give him a new The first hospital train to be built for Arguments in Defense.

Pledged against the loan are securities to the value of $300,000,000, divided Attorneys E. S. Jouett and Helm into three groups of $100,000,000 each, Bruce defended the position taken by which include stocks, bonds nad other President Smith and George W. The test of the commission's power to investigate is not whether Congress has legislated upon the subject-matter, but has Congress the power to legislate. So far as this particular case is concerned, the questions which are the bases of the proceeding, all reate to expenditures of an interstate carrier. The expenditures of an interstate carrier must affect its interstate functions and involve the possible impairment of the carrier as an instrumentality of commerce. Congress, therefore, has the right to be informed as to these expenditures of this carrier and the commission has the power to require testimony from this witness as to his knowledge of these expenditures. Any other conclusion would make regulation impotent and ineffective."
